James will have been attention seeking and stu will have said a load of bull shit x

11:18 //

I feel like I'm standing fucking trial and everyone is fucking against me. Stu is ignoring every message I send and school know now and its fucking embarrassing. I've been bed bound for weeks how am I in any fucking way intimidating

I'm getting my mum to have him I cannot bring myself to even look at him let alone talk to him

11:40 //

See if his story changes x

11:40 //

Well it does. They can see how he's looked after plus they can

Doesnt prove anything

11:29 //

By talking to us and seeing the house and what we do for him x

11:25

Well its practi ally my word against his! How do they conclude from that???

11:24

Worrying thing is from the perspective of someone that's been sexually abused, what if one day something actually happens? I cant trust him now. How am I supposed to believe him

11:24 //

They'd have no worries if they came x

No they have to take it seriously each time.

It might be a required evil. This might be something that's needed for them to progress him to the next level of help x

I've been fighting for a year now to get him help for this and it's just getting worse and backfiring. I wont get help for his behaviour it will just be encouraged as hes getting attention from it.
